

Abstract

A unit fuel injector is presented in which a valve member (21) and an armature (41) of a magnet valve (5) are fixedly joined together, so that the dynamic performance of the magnet valve (5) is improved, and the adjustment and calibration of the magnet valve (5) are also simplified.

Fig. 2